

Wenxin ZHU

PhD Project: Rethinking Multilingualism in the Subtitling of Polyglot Films: Identity and the Position of Languages

Principal Supervisor: Dr. Chuan YU

Co-supervisor: Dr. Robert NEATHER

Co-supervisor: Dr. Francois MOUILLOT

Co-supervisor: Dr. Eugene BIRMAN

Wenxin Zhu is a PhD student in the Academy of Language and Culture at Hong Kong Baptist University. She investigates issues of multilingualism, cultural identity, language positions and minor culture as manifested in audiovisual translation. She also provides teaching assistance in the Academy. Before joining HKBU, she did her MA in Translation Studies at Durham University. She also worked as a freelance translator and did translation work at the Chinese Media Research Centre of China News Service as a public opinion analyst intern and at Foreign Language Teaching and Research Press as a media operator.